

MileHiCon Code of Conduct

This code of conduct shapes our understanding of how people can comport themselves and interact with one another to foster positive communities where people from all walks of life can feel welcome.

Compassion

You value the diverse perspectives, backgrounds, and opinions of others, even when different from your own. You appreciate that all viewpoints come from the life experiences of fellow human beings. You understand that online interactions impact real people in real ways, both offline and online.

Integrity

You behave honorably and honestly. You take responsibility for your words and actions. While attending the MileHiCon 52 Virtual convention, you honor the rules and spirit of honest competition.

Respect

You respect everyone regardless of their background, identity, physical appearance, or beliefs. You keep all chats sessions banter to the subject, not ever making it personal.

Courage

You have the courage to moderate your own behavior, speak out against harassment, and report violations by others. You do not tolerate harassment or hate speech of any kind, even when you are not directly involved.

The convention condemns and will not tolerate any of the following:

- Stalking, doxing, or publishing private information.
- Using excessive foul language
- Threats of harm and harassment
- Anything that compromises people's safety.

If any attendee, participant, artist, or vendor attending the MileHiCon 52 Virtual convention is found to be acting and/or chatting in any of the unacceptable ways listed above, you will be given one warning. If you continue to perform unacceptably after the warning, you may be expelled from the convention website and discord server with no refund.
